Rose Kelly

Rose Kelly is well known and highly regarded in Australian real estate circles with a broad base of knowledge, skill, and experience extending over more than 3 decades. She has excelled as a business owner, manager, salesperson, property manager, sales manager, marketer, trainer, consultant and publisher bringing together her passion for property and people with her skilful insight into the workings of a real estate business.

Embracing all that challenges business in the 21st century, Rose now sits at the helm of LEADING FOCUS - where she coaches, mentors and trains industry professionals to the highest levels of success. Whether its frontline customer experience, team engagement and productivity, or her ability to strategically develop a Real Estate business, Roses determination, optimism and drive to have everyone achieve their highest potential is what gets the results she is known for.

Whether you are starting in business for the first time, or a seasoned business owner and leader, Rose, better than anyone, can and will guide and challenge you on your journey. Her insightful assessment of people and business performance gives you a special advantage when you work with Rose Kelly. You will not be disappointed.
